Webinar's Theme

Over a billion people across Asia rely on Himalayan water. We often take this natural resource for granted. But human activities are stressing the Himalayan water system. The first-of-its kind study attributed towards inadequate water supply system, poor water governance, lack of urban planning, poor tourism management, climate-related risks & challenges, rapid urbanization and consequent increase in water demand in Himalayan region. So far government has developed no system to count this. We need solution and investment in this area. Also the willingness to take actions against the crisis, so as to overcome the drastic situation with futuristic approach.
